How to recognize that some feasible point is at local minimum?